YAZOO PHYSICIANS PLAN NEW $50,000 HOSPITAL

YAZOO CITY, Miss., April 4. (Spl.)-Eight thousand dollars has been pledged by Yazoo City, Miss., and counpledged by Yagoo City, Miss., and county physicians to show their seriousness in the erection of a $50,000 general hospital in Yagoo City. The hospital if the plans are carried out, will consolidate the two private sanitariums, place the whole under a managing board and select a general manager. It is estimated that amount of money will build and equip a general hospital of from 30 to 40 beds perfectly, so that this city will have a hospital godern in all respects with the only exception of fewer rooms for beds. Uniformly the physicians agreed that the new institution be made a business institution open to patients that might be sent here by any doctor in this sec-

Bishops Moore and McMurry Will Deliver Addresses at Friday Night Session of Woman's Council.

Twe of the leading figures in Southra Methodism. Bishop John M Moore and Bishop William T. McMurry, are to aliver addresses Friday night at the ession of the Woman's Mossonary ouncil at the First Methodist church.
Bishop Moore, who has presided over the South American conferences of the hurch, will tell of conditions and needs fite Latin-American countries. Realting that the eyes of the people of the hirds States are turned to South merica now as they have never been elter, the Woman's Missionary council as put forth some of its greatest eforts there, and it is with keen interest that the delegates awast Bishop Moore's ecount of the wonderful progress the hurch has made in that quarter.
The interest of mission workers never lackens in the effort to spread Chrisanity dyroughout the Orlent, and the econt return of Bishop William T. Mcflurry from China, where he presided wer the mission conferences of the hurch, enables the council to gain acurate first-hand informating on conitions there from probably one of the reastst authorities on mission work in he field. "The Claims of the Orient" ell be the subject of Bishop McMurry's didress.

The sessions Friday were devoted Twe of the leading figures in Southddress. The sessions Friday were devoted urgely to business matters and reports om the various departments, some of hich were carried over from the pre-ram of Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. B. W. Lipscomb, home base sectory, told of the wonderful organizator of the Woman's Missionary council, stong which important mission measures out the transmitted to each of the 250,000 members of the council, in a conferences, in just a few days' time ith a minimum expense. Has 10,000 Branches.

The council has 10,000 "home fires" local auxiliaries organized on plans r local nuxiliaries organized on plans f the government.

Miss Nina Steel, mission worker from hina, now assigned to the home field a connection with the premotion of the tudy of mission work by students in imerican educational institutions, told of her work in enlisting volunteers for mission work.

her work in the state of the various inston work. Bepresentatives of the various chools, hospitals and other institutions maintained by the council Friday submitted their report on the work accomplished during the past year and the outlook for the future.

Half Self-Sustaining. It was found that the institutions of the council are more than 50 per cent self-sustaining, which is considered a cemarkable record. The need for ex-tending and enlarging the work of these astitutions was reported to be very pressing.

institutions was reported to be very pressing.

At the Vashti home for dependent girls, Thomasville, Ga., 120 orphan girls between 12 and 18 years of age were registered last year, and 850 girls for whom a home was applied for, could not be accommodated. This home takes the orphan girls when they are about 12 years of age and gives them a grammar school education and industrial training. When they are 18 years old, positions are found for the girls where they may maintain themselves.

President Carranza of Mexico and the governora of several states in Mexico have contributed liberally to the work being done in Mexico, said Dr. J. M. Skinner, of Laredo, Tex., in telling of the work is that country. Five institutions are maintained in Mexico by the council, with eight missionaries, 23 native teachers and 575 pupils.

Inquisitive About Cost of Pro tection to Liquor Dealers in Memphis.

The grand jury at its Friday session, eemed to be rather inquisitive about he alleged cost of protection, which is said has risen to such a price ecently that some of the erstwhile cotleggers have withdrawn from the usiness.

were both summoned before the grand jury.

Mr. Hale, who made the statement to Mr. Mason that Laughter had told him in New Orleans that he had quit the shipping of liquor to Memphis because the cost of official protection was too high, was not in the city and was not before the jury. He will appear, it is said, next week.

Mr. Mason was in the grand jury room for some time and it is assumed that the members sought to secure from him some light on the alleged growth of the power of the liquor interests in Memphis and their source of protection. Of course, Mr. Mason has nothing to do directly with law enforcement, but as a member of the city commission, he with the mayor and other members, is charged with the general enforcement of all the laws and suppression of the liquor traffic. Grand jury proceedings are secret and no specific information as to the scope and intention of the investigation Friday has yet come to light.

Four general lines or activity along which agricultural development work of the railroads may profitably proceed, were agreed upon at the national conference of railroad agricultural specialists, which closed a three-day session at the Hotel Chisca Friday afternoon.

First, it was decided to make a vigorous nation-wide campaign, drawing the attention of homesockers to the superior advantages offered in the several states of the Union through the publication of state booklets and the co-operation of all development forces, including newspaper publicity, chamber of commerce organizations, banners' organizations, farmers' institutes and similar bodies.

Second, to provide new settlers with all necessary information to enable them to start their farming operations along proper lines and by facility as a proved in the community in which they have located. Coose co-operation with the local county farm demonstration agents is irreal in corrying out this work, and where possible the railroads will assist in the establishment of an improved system of farm credits.

Third, to strive to bring about improved market conditions through the general dissemination of information about supply and demand, to be made readily available both to the farmers, the railroads and the communers.

Fourth, to co-operats with farmers in plans for heavier and more economic production, with special reference to live stock.

In commercing upon he results of the conference Friday menung J. I. Edin commenting upon he results of the onference Friday manning J. L. Edwards, manager of the agricultural section of the federal railroad administration of the federal railroad administra-tion, who presided over the sassions, said that the conference had been a sort of round table affair, which had been most helnful because it had brought out an interchange of views of, all important phases of the agricultural development work of the railroads.
